Many women will want to get get First Choice from the

New Fall Dress Goods and Silks

and for a good reason, too,

The women of this city who make most of their clothes, realize the advantage of choosing their dress materials early. They have learned from past experience that early choosing is also best choosing.

When you buy your dress pattern early, you get it fresh off the bolt while there is still all the newness and freshness to it you could possibly desire. You can also make your dress leisurely and have it ready to put on the very first time the chilly winds of Fall make warmer garments necessary and comfortable.

In the matter of cost, the same moderate prices rule now as they will during the entire season.

We must call your attention to our superior showing of Silks and Trimmings.

RAIN CAUSES SUFFERING AT HOT SPRINGS

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 15.—A steady rain that has been falling for the last forty-eight hours combined with a high wind, added greatly to the misery of those fire sufferers here who have been living in tents furnished by the relief committee since the big fire. Many who did not take the precaution to place a floor inside the tents have been flooded out, and others fled to higher ground today.

The rain has also caused Hot Springs Creek, which runs under Central Avenue, to flood the new Lyric Theatre.

The relief committee was in session all during the day and a steady stream of fire victims called at the Business Men's League for assistance, which was promptly given.

THAW CASE IN FEDERAL COURT

ATTORNEYS INVOKE WRIT OF HA- BEAS CORPUS AS MATTER OF PRECAUTION.

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 13.—The perpetually recurring writ of habeas corpus, which has so often dotted the career of Harry K. Thaw since his incarceration in Matteawan as the insane slayer of Stanford White, cropped up again Saturday afternoon in his fight to resist extradition from New Hampshire. This time, and for the first time in the history of Thaw's efforts to regain his liberty, the writ was issued by a federal court.

United States Judge Aldrich of the district of New Hampshire granted the application of three of the Thaw lawyers, Martin, Shurtleff and Olmstead, and made it returnable at Littleton on Tuesday next. William T. Jerome, specially deputized to take the fugitive back to the asylum, heard the news with ill grace and characterized the move as one of bad faith. There had been a gentleman's agreement, he said, that neither side was to make a court move pending the extradition hearing before Governor Felker in Concord next week.

The Thaw leaders, led by Moses H. Grossman, said the writ was one of expediency and had been obtained to meet an emergency should the governor refuse a full hearing on the extradition matter and sign the requisition warrant forthwith turning Thaw over to officers of the state of New York. They had reason to believe now they added, that a full hearing would be accorded the fugitive and in view of this it was probable that they would request on Tuesday that the habeas Corpus proceedings be quashed.

William T. Jerome said "this is trifling with federal court. I should hesitate to apply for a writ in such circumstances."

Thaw spent a very quiet day. There was no court hearing here. It is not been definitely decided when he will be removed to Concord but he will likely remain here until the governor sets a date for a hearing, which may be Wednesday of next week or later.

You Are a Person of Influence in Spite of Yourself.

In the October Woman's Home Companion appears an article by Anna Bryan McCall entitled "A Woman's Influence." Following as an extract:

"We are, all of us" whether young or old, famous or obscure, women of influence. We cannot live a day without affecting the world somewhat for good or ill, whether we will or no.

"We are all a part of life's forces, whether we know it or not. Be as humble as you like, you are still a person of influence, if not by your own choosing, then often by God's decree. It may be only a smile or a simple kindness that you have given to a little child, but it starts agencies you little dream of; or it may be some selfishness and lack of honor, some weakness in you that sets in motion a long train of hurtful and sad influences or circumstances. For all life is connected, and whether you wish it or not your life affects other lives."

EXAMINERS CLOSE MUSKOGEE BANK

Examiners close
Muskogee, Okla., Sept. 13.—The deposits of the Union State bank, closed Saturday morning by Deputy State Banking Commissioners Samuels and Garnett, will be taken over Monday by a large and responsible bank of the city a prominent member of the Clearing House association said to-night.

No explanation as to why the bank was closed was forthcoming except a statement from the deputy examiners in which they said the bank "could not live much longer."

Local bankers declare that the bank was in better condition than three years ago when the present management took charge. Deputy Examiner Samuel so admitted. Banks here are ready to lend aid at any time, their officials said, but they had no warning of the action of the state officials taken just before banking hours Saturday. The bank carried deposits of $226,000, $126,000 of which was public money secured by bonding companies. George Wallison was president and W. H. Thompson cashier of the institution.

MORE RAIN FOR THIS WEEK

Washington, Sept. 14.—Early autumn frosts in the lower lake region, the Middle Atlantic States, New England and the extreme Northwest are predicted by the Weather Bureau for Tuesday. The weekly forecast tonight says:

"The week will open with rains continuing in the Southern States and extending into the Ohio Valley and the Middle Atlantic States, and about Tues day unsettled, rainy weather will prevail over all central and northern sections east of the Mississippi River. There will also be local showers early in the week over the Rocky Mountain region and the Northwest, but by Wednesday and Thursday generally fair weather should prevail over all districts.

There are no present indications of any unusually high or low temperatures during the week, but frosts will occur Monday morning over the lower lake region, the Middle Atlantic States, New England and the extreme Northwest; on Tuesday morning over the Northwest generally, the middle plateau and the central Rocky Mountain region and by Wednesday or Thursday morning probably over the northern and western upper lake region.

Temperatures will be rising over the Northwest and the West after the middle of the week, accompanied by falling pressure, and by the end of the week the weather over those sections will again be unsettled and somewhat cooler."

Crown Prince is a Musician.

Rome, Sept. 15.—The Prince of Piedmont, heir to the throne of Italy, entered upon his tenth year today, and in celebration of the anniversary the customary salutes were fired and many flags were displayed in the capital and other cities of the kingdom. The Prince is the only son of King Victor Emmanuel. He bears the name of Humbert, after his paternal grandfather; Nicholas, after his maternal grandfather, the ruler of Montenegro, and Thomas, after his father's first cousin, the Duke of Genoa. He is said to be exceptionally apt in his studies, with a strong predilection of all that flavors of the military. Within the past year he has developed a marked talent for music and plays the piano and violin exceptionally well.

Blue Grass State Fair.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 15.—The eleventh annual Kentucky State Fair opened today under most favorable auspices and with very flattering prospects of the most successful exhibition ever held in the Blue Grass state. A record-breaking list of premiums has been offered by the management and as a result the choicest products of the stock farm, field, orchard and factory are on display. An excellent program of trotting races will be among the attractions.

BATTLE WITH SMUGGLERS

TEXAS RANGERS AND REGULAR TROOPS KILL 2, WOUND 2, AND CAPTURE 16.

Carrizo Springs, Dimmit County, Tex., Sept. 13.—Sheriff Gardner, with a posse, came up on the Mexican smugglers this morning in the Toro pasture, about six miles north of the Rio Grande. The band was surrounded about 8 o'clock and a battle began immediately.

Two of the Mexican smugglers were killed, two wounded and sixteen captured. Neither the sheriff nor any of his men were hurt. One of the posse lost his horse.

The sheriff's posse and Rangers were joined late yesterday by some soldiers who were keeping watch on the river front.

Soon after the battle the sheriff loaded the wounded into a government wagon and started for Carrizo Springs with his prisoners. They are due to reach town late tonight.

Much excitement prevails among the citizens here as to the probable results in the future. But little danger, however, is anticipated by authorities.

NEW YORK MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED

New York, Sept. 14.—With the arrest early today of Rev. Hans Schmidt, assistant rector of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, charged with the murder of Anna Aunmiller, a domestic, the mystery surrounding the finding of parts of the dismembered body of a girl in the Hudson river was solved. Schmidt, according to the police confessed, and at the time of his arrest attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a safety razor blade.

"I killed her because I loved her so much," Schmidt is alleged to have told his captors, but the police version of the motive for the crime is that the young woman was to become a mother. He had married her through a ceremony of his own performed without witnesses.

According to the police and the district attorney's office, Schmidt's confession was full and absolute. In it he is quoted as saying that he killed his companion with a butcher knife and cut up the body with the knife and a saw. The deed was committed, the police say, while the woman slept, shortly after midnight on September 2, in an apartment in Bradhurst avenue, where the priest had placed her five days before.

Massachusetts Labor Federation.

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 15.—Representatives of the labor bodies of Massachusetts, comprising a total of about 300, assembled in this city today for the annual convention of the State Federation of Labor. The sessions will last through the week and will be devoted to the discussion of legislative and other matters affecting the interests of the working classes.

The newspapers of Duncan, Comanche and Marlow are always squabbling about something or another, although an outsider hardly sees what it is all about. It would be better for Stephens county if they pulled together like the papers of Pontotoc county. The business men of Ada, especially members of the Retailers' Association, would do well to steer clear of advertising schemes promoted by transient solicitors, unless they have the approval of the advertising committee of the Retailers. This committee will give all schemes a careful consideration and if found worthy of the patronage of the business men they will be approved, otherwise, it would be better to pass them up.

THE PLODDER GETS THERE.

It is seldom that the boy who begins life with the most promising future ever lives up to what is expected of him. He may have a brilliant mind lead his classes in school and be the favorite of the community, but too often he comes to think that his brilliancy will carry him through. However, all this time the slow sure plodder is slowly crawling forward, realizing that with him hard work must replace his lack of natural ability and by degrees he forges to the front. He is always pushing forward, planting his feet firmly on each new point of vantage and never slipping back. In time he is found in the responsible positions while the boy who began the race with him and with every promise of a brilliant career is lost in the rush.

No first honor graduate of West Point was ever heard of as a great leader of armies, and very few first honor men from the great universities are heard of afterwards. It is not because they are brilliant that they fail, but generally because of a lack of application. The slow boy should not lose his nerve and be satisfied with an inferior place in life because so many are ahead of him. It is up to him to make the most of his powers and be prepared to push ahead when the brilliant ones begin to lag in the race.

Notice for Hearing Petition for Appointment of Administrator.

STATE OF OKLAHOMA,
COUNTY OF PONTOTOC—SS

IN THE COUNTY COURT.

In Re: Estate of Humphrey Colbert Deceased; Leonard S. Williams, Administrator. No. 1169.

To the heirs, next of kin, and creditors of Humphrey Colbert, deceased and to Leonard S. Williams, administrator, of the estate of the said Humphrey Colbert, deceased.

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 5th day of September, 1913, Edward I. Harris filed in the above entitled matter, his petition praying that Leonard S. Williams be removed as administrator of the estate of Humphrey Colbert, deceased, and that his letters of administration be vacated and revoked and that S. J. Robinson, a resident of Pontotoc county, State of Oklahoma, be granted letters of administration of the aforesaid estate.

That on the said 5th day of September, 1913, the Court made and entered an order suspending the powers of the said Leonard S. Williams, as administrator of said estate until the day set for the hearing of the petition of the said Edward I. Harris.

That said petition will be heard in the court room of the said court in the city of Ada, county of Pontotoc, state of Oklahoma on the 29th day of September, 1913, at 10 o'clock a.m., at which time and place any person interested may appear and show cause, if any they have, why petition should not be granted.

Witness my hand and seal of said Court hereunto affixed this 5th day of September, 1913.

GOOD INTEREST AT REVIVAL

LARGE CROWDS HEAR EVANGELIST WILLIAMS SUNDAY. WILL CONTINUE MEETING ALJ. WEEK.

The revival at the Baptist church continues to grow in interest, the church members especially being greatly uplifted by the strong and effective sermons of Evangelist Williams. He is a man who knows human nature thoroughly and how to reach the hearts of his hearers.

The services were largely attended Sunday, notwithstanding the bad weather. At the morning hour the house was filled and the evangelist preached on the value of the church.

The evening service was largely attended as chairs had to be placed in the aisles of the church to accommodate the congregation. The other churches in the city dismissed their services for the meetings. The house was well filled by seven forty-five. Pastor Stubblefield was in charge of the prayer and song service.

Miss McMillan had a choir of more than forty and under her leadership the singing was most excellent. The song "We Will Shout His Praises in Glory" with the women singing and the men whistling was greatly enjoyed by the congregation. Evangelize the World was another that rang out with full force and heavenly melody. At eight o'clock Evangelist Sid Williams entered the pulpit and made a few remarks on the Christian Sabbath and how Christians ought to observe it. He preached on "Opening the Book of Heaven."

At the close of the service four people made a public profession of Christ and three persons united with the Baptist church. The meetings will continue throughout this week with services each morning at 10 o'clock and 7:45 in the evenings.

NO TEXT BOOK DECISION

COURT MUST HAVE MORE TIME TO READ BRIEFS AND CONSULT AUTHORITIES.

The supreme court did not hand down a decision in the school book muddle today as had been expected. Justice Hayes announced that the briefs submitted were so voluminous and the authorities submitted so numerous that more time must necessarily be consumed by the court in considering the matter. However, realizing the grave importance of the question the court would consider no other business, until the school book question was disposed of.

State Supt. Wilson, in a phone conversation with the News this afternoon stated that as soon as a decision is reached he would at once wire all the county superintendents so that they might give the matter immediate publicity through the local press. In the meantime he advises the purchase of as few books as is possible to get along with until the matter is finally passed on.

Second Trial of Accused Doctor.

Springfield, O., Sept. 15.—Dr. Arthur B. Smith, formerly a physician in high standing in this city, will this week be placed on trial for the second time on a charge of having murdered his wife by giving her a cup of coca containing cyanide. The alleged victim died March 18, 1912. Some months later Dr. Smith married Miss Mabel Merchant at her home in Newton, Mass. Miss Merchant had previously been associated with Dr. Smith as a nurse. Neighborhood gossip caused the authorities to begin an investigation. The remains of the first Mrs. Smith were disinterred and a medical examination made. As a result Dr. Smith was indicted on a charge of first degree murder. The first trial was held last spring and resulted in a jury disagreement.

Compliments Supt. Robison.

T. W. Robison, superintendent of the city schools of Ada, is entering on his sixth year's work. He has thirty teachers and an enrollment of almost fifteen hundred pupils. The "home work" feature has been successfully tried in this school. Superintendent Robison offers cash prizes for work done at home and also uses the half holiday method. His Arbor day contests are unique. He has a record of fifteen hundred trees planted by his pupils at their homes and each year the trees are measured and reports made on their growth. Thus in a very practical way he has grown into the lives of his pupils.—Oklahoma School Herald.

A Chickasha man who has just returned from Oregon county, Missouri, where the government is now having so much trouble with the moonshiners, tells of an exciting chase the detectives had with one of the offenders. At one time the officers were within three feet of the moonshiner when he stumbled, fell down the mountainside, giving him such a start on the officers that they have now given up all hopes of ever catching up with the outlaw.—Chickasha Express.

Improved Idea for Dirigibles. Masts used by the British army for anchoring dirigible balloons carry at their tops cones into which the noses of the balloons fit.

Their Expression.

Nothing is to me more distasteful than that entire complacency and satisfaction which beam in the countenances of a newly-married couple—in that of the lady particularly; it tells you that her lot is disposed of in this world; that you can have no hopes of her. It is true I have none, nor wish as either, perhaps; but this is one of those truths which ought, as I said before, to be taken for granted, not expressed.—Charles Lamb.

that season after season--year after year--our customers return to us for their clothes. It simply goes to prove, --first, that our customers are discriminating judges of value and second, that the clothes we sell in every way meet the standard that our customers set.

And here's why,—because we have learned where and how to select the merchandise we sell. Horse Meat Scarce in Paris.

Paris, Sept. 15.—The horse slaughterers of Paris are on strike for an extra 50 cents on every animal killed and as a result many of the 700 horse flesh stalls in the markets and shops of Paris and suburbs are without fresh horse meat for their customers, mers, who have had to be content with "saucisses hippo-pore" or other prepared forms of horse meat.

The marked falling off in the number of horses entering the slaughter house, which has led to the strike, is ascribed to the large purchase for the army as a result of the three years' service till.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur
Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

ROBBERS LEFT GOLD AND SILVER MONEY

Okemah, Ok., Sept. 13.—Not wishing to overburden themselves with the heavier coin, robbers left behind $4,000 in hard money when they robbed the Okemah state bank and secured $3,401 in paper money. Evidently the job was done by experts, no dynamite being used. Some one either knew the combination of the safe or got the money before it was locked. The loss is fully covered by burglar insurance. The bank is in the Oklahoma Bankers' Association and also a member of the American Bankers' Association, and the Burns Detective agency will make an investigation of the robbery.

PUNISHED FOR NOT SUPPORTING CHILD

Oklahoma City, Ok., Sept. 15.—An opinion delivered by Judge Henry Furman of the Criminal Court of Appeals affirmed the case of Fred Hunter of Oklahoma City, given a fine of $300 and three months in jail for failure to provide for a minor child.

The case of Claude Merrell, Tillman county, was also affirmed.

Opinions by Judge Armstrong affirmed the case and reversed another against Jess Hayes of Johnston County for violating the liquor law, and dismissed the appeal of John A. Harness of Woodward county for assault and battery.

ANOTHER PICTURE SHOW FOR ADA

Carpenters are at work remodeling the building on West Main street formerly occupied by the Colonial cafe, and in a few days it will be occupied by John and Lee Huber with an up to date moving picture show. Ada will not lack for entertainment during the coming fall and winter.

100 IRON BEDS

These beds, if strung end to end, would reach almost from Broadway to the Katy depot. We are selling a $25.00 Iron Bed for $20.00. This is a rare bargain. Built as strong as expert workmen can make them, and polished to a brilliant finish. The latest style. Also have cheaper beds, ranging in price from $2.00 up. Every one a snap for the buyer.

LARGE CROWD WAITS AT NEW STATION

This morning a large crowd of citizens was at the new Frisco passenger station to greet the first train to stop there, for it was the fruition of a long deferred hope cherished by all classes.

Promptly on time the train rolled in and the first Ada man seen to alight was Fred Childress, who had been to Ardmore. The office force is now snugly housed and will feel greatly relieved now that it will no longer be cramped into inadequate quarters as in time past.

John Beard was in the crowd this morning and remarked that this was the third time he had witnessed a Frisco depot opening at Ada. The first was a box car placed here when the road first arrived. The next was the old wooden shack, which has done service until now, and the $20,000 concrete building which was opened today. This very well illustrates the gradual growth and progress of the city from its foundation thirteen years ago.

In the Matter of J. L. Jeffress, Bankrupt. In Bankruptcy.

To the Honorable Ralph E. Campbell, Judge of District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Oklahoma:

J. L. Jeffress of Roff, in the County of Pontotoc and State of Oklahoma, in said District, respectfully represents that on the 14th day of June last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt, under the Acts of Congress relating to Bankruptcy; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and o the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankruptcy acts; except such debts as are excepted by laws from such discharge.

Dated this 12th day of August, A. D. 1913.

Signed: J. L. JEFFRESS,
Bankrupt.

Endorsed:

No. 1000 in Re J. L. Jeffress, Bankrupt.

Petition for discharge Filed August 15, 1913, R. P. Harrison, Clerk of U. S. District Court.

J. F. McKeel, Attorney for Bankrupt:

Filed 8-25-13 R. H. Mathews, Referee.

WHEREAS, the above and foregoing application for discharge from all of his debts and other provable claims under Acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy has been made by the above named bankrupt, and the said application has been referred to the undersigned as Special Master in Chancery, now on motion of the bankrupt's attorneys.

It is ordered that all creditors of the above named bankrupt, as well as all other parties in interest, appear before the undersigned Special Master in Chancery at his office in the City of McAlester, Pittsburg County, State of Oklahoma, and in said district, at a hearing to be had on such application on the 15th day of October A. D. 1913, at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., or as soon thereafter as such hearing may be had, and show cause why such application should not be granted.

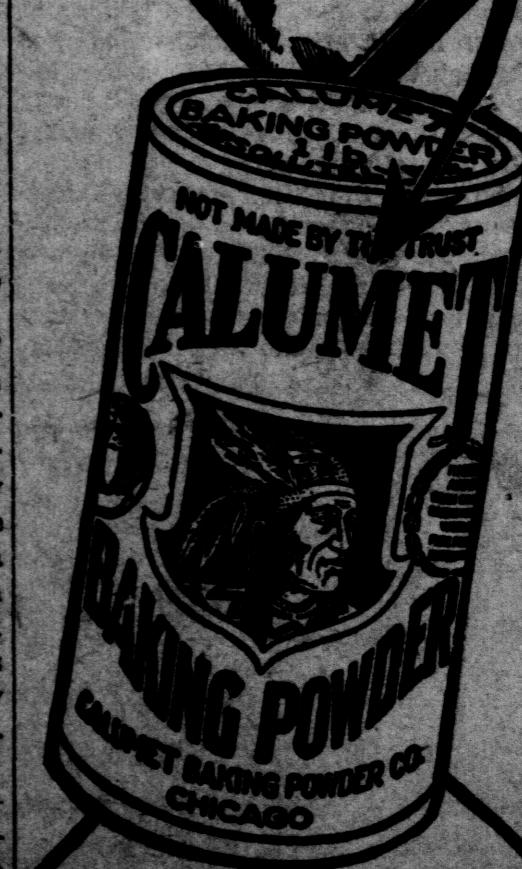

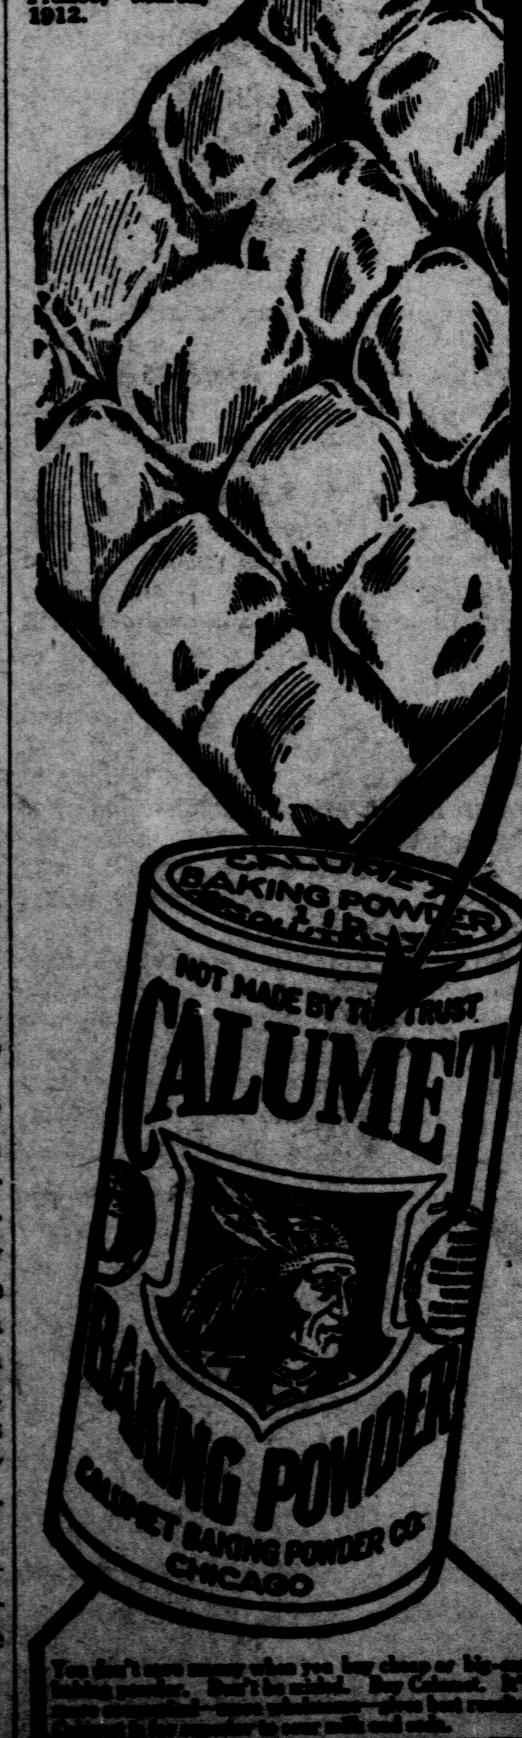

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at the City of McAlester, in said District, in this 12th day of September A. D. 1913.

R. H. MATTHEWS,
Special Master in Chancery.

Grief-stricken, I groaned aloud: "Madame, there rides the finest cavalry in the world!—to annihilation."

How could I know that they were coming deliberately to sacrifice themselves?—that they rode with death heavy on their souls, knowing well there was no hope, understanding that they were to die to save the fragments of a beaten army?

"They are doomed, like their fathers," I muttered—"sons of the cuirassiers of Waterloo. Look, madame! Look on the men of France! You say you do not understand the narrow love of country! Look!"

"It is too pitiful, too horrible," she said, hoarsely. "How the horses fall in the meadow!"

"They will fall thicker than that in this street!"

"See!" she cried; "they have begun to gallop! They are coming! Oh, I cannot look!—I cannot!"

Far away, a thin cry sounded above the cannon din; the doomed cuirassiers were cheering. It was the first charge they had ever made; nobody had ever seen cavalry of their arm on any battle-field of Europe since Waterloo.

Now among the thicket of hop-vines long lines of black arose; there was a flash, a belt of smoke, another flash—then the metallic rattle of bullets on steel breast-plates. Entire ranks of cuirassiers went down in the smoke of the Prussian rifles, the sinister clash and crash of falling armor filled the air. And, above the infernal fracas rose the heavy cheering of the doomed riders.

Into the deep, narrow street wheeled the horsemen, choking road and sidewalk with their galloping squadrons, a solid cataract of impetuous horses, a flashing torrent of armored men—and then! Crash! the first squadron dashed headlong against the barricade of wagons and went down.

Into them tore the squadron behind, unable to stop their maddened horses, and into these thundered squadron after squadron, unconscious of the dead wall ahead.

Posted behind the upper and lower windows of the houses, the Prussians shot into them, so close that the flames from the rifles set the jackets of the cuirassiers on fire. Then a terrible butchery of men and horses began; the fusillade became so violent and the scene so sickening that a Prussian lieutenant went crazy in the house opposite, and flung himself from the window into the mass of writhing horsemen.

In front of the barricade a huge fellow reined in his horse and turned, white-gloved hand raised, red epaulet tossing.

"Halt! Halt!" he shouted. "Stop the lancers!" And a trumpeter, disengaging himself from the frantic chaos, set his long, silver trumpet to his lips and blew the "Halt!"

Then into this awful struggle galloped the two squadrons of the lancers. For a moment the street swam under their fluttering red-and-white lance-pennons, then a volley swept them—another—another—and down they went.

The street was still crowded with entrapped cuirassiers, huddled in groups or riding up and down the walls mechanically seeking shelter. A few of these, dismounted, were weakly attempting to drag a heavy cart away from the barricade; the Prussians shot them, one at a time, but others came to help, and a few lancers aided them, and at length they managed to drag a hay-wagon aside, giving a narrow passage to the open country beyond. Instantly the Prussian infantry swarmed out of the houses and into the street, shouting, "Prisoners!" pushing, striking, and dragging the exhausted cuirassiers from their saddles. But contact with the enemy, hand to hand, seemed to revive the fury of the armored riders. The debris of the regiments closed up, long, straight sabers glittered, trembling horses plunged forward, broke into a wild gallop, and passed through the infantry, through the rent in the barricade, and staggered away across the fields, buried in the smoke of a thousand rifles.

So rode the "Cuirassiers of Morbroum," the flower of an empire's chivalry, the elect of France. So rode the gentlemen of the Sixth Lancers to shiver their slender spears against stone walls—for the honor of France.

CHAPTER VI.

The Game Begins.
The room in the turret was now swimming in smoke and lime dust; I could scarcely see the gray figure of the Countess through the powder-mist which drifted in through shutters and loop-hole, dimming the fading daylight.

And now wagon-loads of French wounded began to pass jolting over crushed helmets, rifles, cuirasses, and the carcasses of dead horses.

A Horrible Butchery of Men and Horses Began.

A covey of Uhlians entered the shambles, picking their way across the wreckage of the battle, a slim, wiry, fastidious company, dainty, as spurred gamecocks, with their helmet-cords swinging like wattles, and their schapkas tilted rakishly.

Then the sad cortège of prisoners formed in the smoke, the wounded leaning on their silent comrades, bandaged heads hanging, the others erect, defiant, supporting the crippled or standing with arms folded and helmeted heads held high.

And at last they started, between two files of mounted Uhlians—Turcos, line infantrymen, gendarmes, lancers, and, towering head and shoulders above the others, the superb cuirassiers.

Under the window soldiers began shooting the crippled horses; the heavy flash and bang of rifles set the countess trembling again.

Until the firing ceased she stood as though stupefied, scarcely breathing, her splendid hair glistening like molten copper in the red torches' glare.

Soldiers began to come and go in the room; some carried off chairs for officers below, some took the pillows from the bed, one bore away a desk on his broad shoulders.

The Countess never moved or spoke. The evening had grown chilly; I was cold to my knees.

A soldier offered to build me a fire in the great stone fireplace behind me, and when I assented he calmly smashed a chair to kindling-wood, wrenched off the heavy posts of the bed, and started a fire which lit up the wrecked room with its crimson glare.

The Countess rose and looked around. The soldier pushed my long chair to the blaze, tore down the canopy over the bed and flung it over me, stolidly ignoring my protests. Then he clumped out with his muddy boots and shut the door behind him.

For a long while I lay there, full in the heat of the fire, half-dozing, then sleeping, then suddenly alert, only to look about me to see the Countess with eyes closed, motionless in her arm-chair, only to hear the muffled thunder of the guns in the dark.

A few moments later a clock in the hallway struck nine times. At the same instant a deadened cannon-shot echoed the clamor of the clock. It was the last shot of the battle. And when the dull reverberations had died away Alsace was a lost province, MacMahon's army was in full retreat, leaving on the three battle-fields of Worth, Reichshoffen, and Froeschwiller sixteen thousand dead, wounded, and missing soldiers of France.

About seven o'clock that morning a gaunt, leather-faced Prussian officer, immaculate in his somber uniform, entered the room without knocking.

"Monsieur, I have the honor to hand you a copy of regulations. I am the provost marshal; all complaints should be brought to me. A list of the inhabitants of Morbroum will be made today. You will have the goodness to

Fall and Winter Showing Our First Display of Coats and Suits for Fall and Winter Takes Place Tomorrow

And tomorrow we want you here—we want you to see the full showing before a single garment is sold.

We believe that we have made wise selections, and that women in general will be more pleased with the coats and suits to be displayed than they ever have been.

In the first place, the variety is great. A few general style ideas will be found in all of the garments, but the designing and the little touches of artists in such work give each garment an individuality difficult to find in ordinary makes or in garments not trade-marked.

Each coat, each suit in this display has the same trade-mark which is reproduced here. We call attention to the trade-mark, because all over the country it means quality—style—satisfaction—value. Fortunately for YOU the "Palmer Garment" is so designed that it fits with fewer alterations than any other garment. Usually, the garment fits perfectly, with no alterations whatever, thus saving you time and annoyance and money.

In the suits—and this is to be a big suit season—we have some exquisite designs, sure to please you. In the coats, the predominance of pile fabrics, such as caracul, astrachan, ural lamb, Persiana, plush and matelasse, will attract you.

But—come and see for yourself

C. H. Rives has a very glowing account to give of his trip to California. Among other things was a boat trip to Catalina islands. The sea was very rough and most of the passengers became deathly seasick, but he claims he was one of the few who escaped that trouble. On this trip he saw three whales disporting themselves in the waves. He also described some of the beauties of Catalina Islands. A feature which interested him was the crowd of boys diving for money thrown into the sea by the visitors. The youngsters never allowed a coin to sink to the bottom, but caught it on the way down.

The title "Firebugs" suggests a tragedy, but this time it happens to be a comedy that will be presented at the DeSoto. A popular two-reel feature at that. "The Medium's Nemesis" is a detective story in which a child is the chief instrument in bringing the guilty to justice.

A drama and two comedies make up the elaborate program that will be presented at the Majestic this evening.

"The Girl and the Judge" is the drama and it is a novel one, too. Then comes another of the side-splitting Broncho Billy pictures and "A Husband's Trick." A program you can't beat.

Cotton has varied little in price from Saturday's quotations. It has sold around 13c and a shade better. A few bales were brought in today, although the picking has almost come to a standstill since the rains began.
